Open free to the public, the play is a blend of humor and history, based on Franklin's 1773 wish "to come back in 100 years or more to see what has become of American spirit." "Little Look Around" will be held at 1, 3 and 5 p.m. at the McLean House Field.

Park Superintendent H. Gilbert Lusk said, "The play focuses on the contributions of Americans - - past and present - - along with some of this country's problems. Through the varied characters, the cast debates the merits of America today and yesterday to answer Franklin's question of whether conditions in the United States warrant the continuation of the 'Great Experiment in Liberty'.

The performances at Appomattox Court House National Historical Park are part of a summer-long tour that is taking the play to 110 national park areas across the country.

You will want to make this a family outing. Be sure to attend one of the performances on Sunday.

"The telephone companies can compete with these outside suppliers, but to do so we must shift to cost-based rates across the board. This inevitably will mean higher rates for residential users, as has been well documented in independent research."

"It is for these reasons we have asked Congress to make a determination of the trde public interest in this matter."

Richard Floyd Burke, III is shown placing wreath on grave of his ancestor, Samuel Dabney Burke.

Burkeville Honors Its Founder, Samuel Dabney Burke

"Samuel Dabney Burke Day" was a Bicentennial event held at Burkeville on Saturday, July 3, 1976. The observance was sponsored by the Town of Burkeville and the Burkeville Ruritan Club.

Samuel Dabney Burke was the fourth generation Burke to be born at the site of the Historic Burke's Tavern. When he was ten years old his father, Charles Burke, Jr., moved his family to Norfolk. Samuel Dabney Burke, at age 23, returned to Burkeville where he lived until his death in 1880. In 1887, the Town of Burkeville was named in honor of Col. Samuel Dabney Burke whose family owned and occupied the Tavern for 175 years.

In 1880 Samuel Dabney Burke was elected to the House of Delegates as a member of the Whig Party. His Tavern became the scene of many political arguments and activities during this period.

In 1847 Colonel Burke gave land to build the Richmond and Danville Railway (now Southern) and the Southside Railway (now Norfolk and Western). This area later became known as Burke's Junction and was incorporated 13 years before Crewe.

Samuel Dabney Burke was the grandfather of the late Richard Floyd Burke, II of Appomattox.

The program for the day was held at the Burkeville Ball Park, where interesting and informative speeches were given on the life of Samuel Dabney Burke, the history of Burkeville, and the prominent role the railways played in Burkeville history. Mrs. Eva Scott, the area's representative in the Virginia House of Delegates, was guest speaker at the Burke Day observance.

Members of the Burke family and guests then adjourned to the family cemetery where Richard Floyd Burke, III of Appomattox placed a wreath on his ancestor Samuel Dabney Burke's grave.

Following the laying ceremony, a picnic lunch was served on the grounds of the Historic Burke's Tavern.

Mrs. B. B. Abrams, the present owner of Burke's Tavern, gave a guided tour of the Tavern. The tavern has been completely restored and furnished and is opened to visitors. It became a National Landmark in 1975.

Members of the Burke family attending the Bicentennial Event from Appomattox were Mr. Richard Floyd Bitrke, III, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lein Burke and daughter, Jennifer; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Leigh Burke, Jr. and grandson, Samuel; Mrs. William W. Burke; Mr. and Mrs. William Allen Burke and son, Van; and Mrs. Sallie Burke Hardin.

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Allen Burke, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Steele, Jr.; and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Steele, III, and children from Richmond; Mrs. R. F. Burke Steele and daughter, Alice Booker Steele; Mrs. Richard Floyd Burke Steele, Jr. and children and Mr. and Mrs. John Robertson of Petersburg; Mrs. Ann Abbitt Staples and daughter, Mrs. Paul Wynett and children of Atlanta, GA; Mrs. Jane Burke Williams of Brookneal; her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Allingham and children of Ontario, Canada; Dr. and Mrs. Robert Kanich and children and Mrs. R.
